

About Our Doctor

Jonathan Stein, M.D.

Dr. Stein completed a specialized year in training devoted to corneal disease and Refractive Surgery. Dr. Stein has personally performed thousands of refractive surgical procedures and routinely lectures on the topic. He has written multiple scientific papers and continuously edits the literature produced by his colleagues. He has presented his research on refractive surgery in many national and international meetings.

Education/Training

Dr. Stein received his B.S. from Cornell University and his M.D. from New York University School of Medicine. He completed his Ophthalmology residency at a combined program in the New York University Medical Center and the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. He completed his Cornea and Refractive Surgery fellowship at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. He is Board Certified in Ophthalmology.

Memberships

Dr. Stein is an Assistant Clinical Professor at the New York University School of Medicine. He is an Instructor in the NYU Department of Ophthalmology and in the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. He teaches and trains other clinicians in refractive surgery techniques. He is a member of several professional societies including the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the American Society for Cataract and Refractive Surgery.